

How to Play Scattergories

Scattergories is a creative-thinking category-based game.

The objective of the 2-to-6-player game is to score points by uniquely naming items within a set of categories, given an initial letter, within a time limit.

For example, if the initial letter is given as "S" and the category is "Things in an office" then correct answers could include:

Stapler
Shredder
Smartphone
Speakers

After players write down as many answers as they can (within a time limit), then they compare answers. Players score a point when they have listed a word that no other player has. After several rounds, the winner is the player with the most points.
